Building Together.

“Agriculture and its related infrastructure is the core of America and the key to the future.”

The roots of our company are deeply involved in this vital industry. As a nation, we need to continue and extend our ability to grow, produce, store and ship agricultural products...for America, and the world.

Bethlehem Construction is an important part of this critical cycle.

For over three decades, Bethlehem has been a leader in creating and building structures which lead the way in quality and technology.

Our turn key construction turns off worries.

Expertise in concepts through design through finished construction is a feature and benefit many of our clients desire. Our highly skilled engineering and technical design staff can provide you a structure perfectly mated to your needs. From foundation to final touches, you decide how far you would like our services to take you. Our construction methods include energy efficient concrete sandwich panel technology through pre-engineered steel buildings.

Whatever your needs, turn to us.

Bethlehem Construction has extensive knowledge and experience in designing and completing specialized agricultural buildings. Add to that decades of on the job success, and you can have confidence you have turned to a company on whom you can rely. Our work speaks volumes to our ethics. Our list of satisfied clients and customers is available at all times. Our history is an open book.
